

Tech Info Library

MouseText: Display for Characters F and G

Revised: 6/28/91
Security: Everyone

MouseText: Display for Characters "F" and "G"

=====

Article Created: 29 April 1991
Article Last Reviewed:
Article Last Updated:

TOPIC -----

What should the MouseText ROM display for characters "F" and "G"?

DISCUSSION -----

The "F" in MouseText is the character used to represent a carriage return, sort of like this:

```
      |
      |
<----|
```

The "G" displays four horizontal bars, an Apple II representation of an active (or foremost) window. It looks like this:

```
_____
_____
_____
_____
```

(this space is intentional)

You'll find a list of MouseText characters in the Apple IIe Owner's Manual (platinum), page 133.

Copyright 1991, Apple Computer, Inc.

Tech Info Library Article Number:7396