

Apple /// Computer Information

DOCUMENT NAME	#
POEM: A TALE OF TWO SARAS	116

Ex Libris David T. Craig

FILE : /// Info; Tale of 2 Saras PAGE 1 OF 1
TITLE : APPLE /// COMPUTER INFORMATION
INFO : Created: 20-Apr-1994 Modified: 20-Apr-1994 Size: 2K [1,102 bytes]

00001 A TALE OF TWO SARAS
00002
00003 I have two Saras in my home
00004 one stays put, one likes to roam
00005 One has "h" at the end of her name
00006 the other does not, but still sounds the same
00007
00008 When Sarah caught fever we held her and rocked her
00009 when the fever persisted, we went to the doctor
00010 When SARA (my computer) got overheated
00011 I stuck a fan on her back, that was all that she needed
00012
00013 Both are happy and cheerful and ready to play
00014 only one wears diapers, I'm grateful to say
00015 Sarah is small but strong for her size
00016 SARA is too,... at least in my eyes
00017
00018 Sarah is bright and has friends up and down
00019 SARA is too, but her friends all left town
00020 When she's hungry for food, Sarah always gets more
00021 when SARA got hungry, they just closed the door
00022
00023 One day my Sarah will be all grown and blessed
00024 but as for my SARA, well, we hope for the best
00025 My Sarah will always have someplace we pray
00026 but SARA, too often, just gets turned away
00027
00028 I have two Saras in my home
00029 one stays put, one likes to roam
00030 One sits in my lap as I talk on the phone
00031 one sits on a desk, in the dark, all alone.
00032
00033 -----
00034 Paul Campbell
00035 Copyright pending 11/22/91

POEM